Edito

The fourth issue of mzwdaily mag finally is out! Six months after the previous one, this new one highlights the main events that have happened this spring and summer. It will be a lot about the upcoming album, Time, since Måns has released two new singles, Grow Up to be You and Better Now. At the end of the summer, a swedish tour for the release of Time has been announced for this October. Måns also showed up on TV and stage during this summer, after another great performance that put Månsters on fuego; Måns' cover of Eleni Foureira's song during the Grand Finale of the Eurovision Song Contest in Tel Aviv. This last spring, Måns also has been involved in the Unicef Gala which came with an emotional trip to Bolivia earlier in March of this year. Meanwhile, he also was involved in events related to Zelmerlöv & Björkman Foundation and its projects in Africa.

I am sure that you feel Better Now after listening to this song all summer, but it is nothing compared with this fall and winter that will bring us to Wonderland, just behind the doors of the Grand Hotel in Stockholm, for Måns' Christmas Show, after a road trip through Sweden to sing along all new Måns' songs with him and the Zappanones. End of 2019, we are so ready for you!

About this current version of mzwdaily mag, I would be glad to have some feedback again to try to make the next issue better... again and again. Thank you for your kind words about this fanzine, but it is real because of Månsters and most of all, because of Måns! It is so much fun to support you - daily. Always. :)

See you soon for an all new issue but for now, as usual, I wish you all that you enjoy reading it!

About the editor

Hejsan ! I'm Flora, 25, from France - but currently living in Stockholm. I run mzwdaily on social media, the website manszelmerlowdaily.com and this fanzine. I'm interested in digital communication and working on InDesign and Photoshop and nothing is better than this fanzine to put my skills into practice! :) I am very glad to be able to attend a lot of Måns' concerts or events this year, while enjoying my «swedish life» and I am very pleased to share it all with all of you, Månsters, who follow mzwdaily ! Feel free to write an email or DM me on social media if you want to talk or if you have ideas or suggestions to make this fanzine better ! MANY THANKS ! x

Time for new songs and tour!

Swedish Release Tour - Tickets out now!
GET YOUR TICKETS TO DISCOVER «TIME» LIVE

Two years after his last album Chameleon, Måns came back with new singles this last spring before releasing an all new album Time, this fall. In addition to its release, Måns will go on tour through Sweden this October to perform his new songs on stage, together with Zappanones, his musicians.

Last March, Måns came back with his song Walk with Me, a duet with Dotter, that stayed several days in the top songs of Rix FM, a big Swedish radio. The song now has reached more than 7 millions streams which is a nice promise for the reception of the upcoming album.

Later this spring, at the end of May, two new singles have been released the same day. Grow Up to be You is dedicated to his son Albert. Måns has mentioned that becoming a dad made writing songs about the love to his son easy. For sure, this single highlights Måns' new life as the second one does, Better Now, that sounds like a perfect melody for the summer time, full of positive vibes, putting away bad time back in time to present life now, full of love, of course!

During the Eurovision Song Contest season, a third song also popped up; Fuego, Måns' cover of Eleni Foureira's song, who competed in Eurovision in 2018 as the Cypriot entry. Måns made this song sound a little bit different and he chose a very personal staging imagined with JEANBAPTISTEGROUP, the same production that has worked on the Walk with me staging for the Melodifestivalen TV appearance last March. This performance was a part of the interval act at this year's Grand Final. While Måns sang Fuego, Conchita

MORE ABOUT EUROVISION
AND 'FUEGO' PERFORMANCE

Time

After Walk with me, Grow Up to be You and Better Now, Måns will release his new album, Time, on October 18. At the end of August, Måns shared some news of this album on Instagram and wrote «ALBUM WRAP!!!!». New songs are ready and so we are ready too for this very new album!

Swedish tour

The release of the album brings a swedish tour that will begin in Malmö on October 18. Then, Måns and Zappanone will visit Stockholm, Falun and Gothenburg on October 25, 26 & 27 for three more concerts around Sweden. This fall tour will be an all new concert with the new songs live that some lucky fans could listened to them in Hörby, on September 22, for a unique concert before the tour.

Zelmerlöv & Björkman Foundation

Charity events for the foundation have been organized this last summer starting with a vernissage of Björn Persson's photographs and then, the Svaneholm Open. The presence of Zelmerlöv & Björkman Foundation at these events aims to raise money for the projects they run in Africa to help kids and students to receive an education in school or to give them the chance to receive medical cares - the foundation aims to make kids and young people's lives in Africa better and you can help them help easily!

Svaneholm Open

On June 26th, Måns & Jonas attended the opening of Svaneholm Open, a tennis tournament in Skurup, near Malmö in Skåne, Sweden. They teamed up with Patrick Andersson to play against Mats Wilander, Joakim Nyström and Anders Järryd. The tournament helped to raise 250 000 SEK to help Zelmerlöv & Björkman Foundation. With this money, the foundation wants to build a new classroom at Kenswed Academy, the university they've opened in Kenya, where 40 students will be able to study during one year.

This tennis event was the perfect occasion for Jonas and Måns to mix their talent and passions as Måns also performed some songs including Heroes and his new single Better Now.

Björn Persson's vernissage

On July 7th, Zelmerlöv & Björkman Foundation and Björn Persson were at Norrviken, in Båstad for the photographer's vernissage. A charity auction has been organised for the foundation. Måns and Alexander Holmgren performed some songs including Children of Tomorrow, a song written for the children in Africa.

BJÖRN PERSSON'S EXHIBITION is coming to Stockholm! - From September 20th to December 20th, the African animal pictures will be at Eatery Luma Park in Stockholm. If you're in the area, coming to Stockholm for Måns' tour or The Grand Wonderland Show, come and get a look! Profits will go to Zelmerlöv & Björkman Foundation!

When fans help...

Yolande, from Belgium, was first told by her daughter Cécile, a Månster, that she should be involved in Måns' and Jonas' foundation because of her work. She is the secretary of Hospital Without Borders, a belgian NGO.

Hospital Without Borders is located in Belgium: the first mission is to collect medical, surgical material in Belgium and also in Luxembourg. Afterwards, they will give everything for free to people who want to build medical centers, hospitals, etc.. mostly in Africa.

It began in September 2016, when the secretary, Yolande has a contact with Kasper Skarrie to ask him and the foundation if they could be interested in some equipment for the Kenswed academy with a little medical room.

Yolande's idea received a warm reaction from Kasper and the foundation and all the talk started. It is important to know that such a project requires a lot of investment - to collect material, a transport, and be sure that the custom fees are not too expensive.

But after a few months, the Lööf Foundation in partnership with the Zelmerlöv & Björkman Foundation has started building the Kenswed Maternity and Health Center; all the medical equipment like stretchers, pediatric beds, examination tables, pediatric examination tables, ultrasound system, gynecological cabinet was sent to Nairobi. During May 2018, a truck was loaded in Belgium and driven to Gothenburg where the container stayed. Yolande joined the team in Gothenburg to help for the loading. The container arrived in September in Africa.

Such a big challenge for this belgian NGO that ended up with a big success. If you can relate some of your personal activities or your job to the foundation, please, don't hesitate, you can help to make the difference!

How you can help

Become a volunteer

ZBF is looking for volunteers for a lot of tasks in Sweden for their events and everyday work. Reach the QR code below for all the details.

Make a donation

Make a donation to help the foundation help in Africa. 300 SEK (about 30€) is the equivalent of the cost per month for one student to attend Kenswed - including teacher salary, equipment, food and water. For at least 315 SEK, you can receive a ZBF bracelet. Donate now via this QR code.

UNICEF - Måns' trip to Bolivia

Between March 10th and 14th earlier this year, Måns went to La Paz, Bolivia, one of the poorest countries of South America to meet kids who live by themselves in the street. Måns travelled there with UNICEF at the occasion of the «World's Most Important Night» («Världens viktigaste kväll»), the UNICEF Gala, aired on TV4 in Sweden several weeks later, on May 1st.

«Love a bit of extra oxygen at times. Especially at 4000m altitude.» says Måns on Instagram on March 12th.

In La Paz, Måns met the siblings Michael, 11 years old, Nicole, 10 years old, and Angelo, 2 years old. Michael explains: «Some children die because they drink alcohol and use drugs. Others die of cold.» Children risk their lives living in the street by being involved in crime and prostitution. The children are also vulnerable to illness because of the lack of medical care, clean water, food and protection from the cold. Because they live in the street, those kids don't have any security system, they could be called «ghosts of the society». UNICEF tries to make them seen by the society for them to receive help from the social system.

"Imagine if my sons had grown up like this."

"The children are not loved by anyone."

Left to themselves, street children have to start to work early which means that they don't go to school. Michael wins money by washing cars and windows. While working, Michael needs to take care of his little brother Angelo. His elder sibling confesses that he is always afraid that his brother could run out into the street and be hit.

«The children are not seen here. They are not loved by anyone. Imagine if my sons had grown up like this», says Måns with emotion when he discovers how kids live on the street around La Paz.

DETAILS,
GROW UP TO BE YOU PERFORMANCE
& REPORTAGE

On May 1st, live from Cirkus in Stockholm and aired on TV4, the reportage has been broadcasted. Then, Måns performed Grow Up to be You for the first time, first song that belongs to his upcoming album. This song to his son Albert was matching the topic of the night to remind everybody that every kid should have the right to grow up and have a calm childhood, free of danger, supported by caring parents. «So much help is needed here. And it's so easy to help.» says Måns about kids in Bolivia. You can help UNICEF help. Visit unicef.se/bli-varldsforalder for more details.

MEDS continues its collaboration (the mobile pharmacy), always with Måns as its ambassador this time with a song called Älskar MEDS (I love MEDS), produced by Good Enough Media, Calle Schulman's agency. The funny song tells how it feels good to know that MEDS, «det mobila apoteket»

Rix FM events

With the release of Better Now, Grow Up to be You and Walk with me, Måns and his new singles became hits on the radio especially on RixFm, one of the biggest swedish radios. Some Rix FM events this spring and this summer were the occasion for Måns to sing his new songs on stage - and some oldies we can't get tired of!

Rix FM i Fjällen

On April 4th, Måns performed in Åre for RixFM i Fjällen, where Dotter joined him to sing Walk with me together. Måns also met some people during a signing session the day after.

This summer again, Måns took part in several RixFm Festival concerts in Sweden; in Helsingborg on August 2nd, in Gävle on August 7th and in Kalmar on August 8th. He performed some songs including his two last singles Better Now and Grow up to be You, but also Walk with me. Dotter even joined him on stage in Kalmar to sing their song together. He obviously couldn't leave the stage without singing Heroes or Should've Gone Home. Alexander Holmgren shared the stage with Måns for these three gigs.

Rix FM Festival

Måns and Jonas will be Stephan Odelberg's guests on En Talk Talk Show this December 3rd at Hamburger Börs in Stockholm.

Mr & Mrs Zelmertöw

On September 5th, Måns and Ciara said «YES» to each other. They got married surrounded by friends and family at Fort George, Croatia, where, two years ago, they got engaged. Wishing both of you lots of happiness and love for like, forever!

Special thanks

I am always saying that, but thank you all for your kind words about mzwdaily mag and mzwdaily on social media and the website. I feel happy to know that you now can read this new issue. It was very exciting to write about the upcoming tour and album... which means that the next issue will be EXCITING because of its content.

Thank you VERY MUCH for your «emergency corrections/read » Miri (owner of @miriloveslabradors & @holmies_deluxe on Instagram) when I was in such a hurry to have this fanzine ready in time! October will be awesome, I'll promise that to you ! :D Thank you to Yolande and Cécile for always being so nice and for sharing your testimony about your experience with Zelmertöw & Björkman Foundation.

Thank you so much to all of you who knew I was writing this fanzine, especially my host mom here in Sweden - where I still live as an aupair, who asked me to put a schedule on the fridge to know when I'll go to Måns' events/concerts, ahah! How amazing she is, I mean! :D

And of course... TACK Måns! You cannot imagine how discovering your music and going to see you on stage in Sweden has changed a lot in my life, all for good! It feels so obvious and fun to support you daily. I cannot wait for your new album and everything coming up at the end of the year. And mzwdaily mag will talk about it all! OF COURSE ! :)

Måns, Månsters, have a nice read.
